READY TO DEPART.

President Cleveland Ships Off His Doctor and Will Soon Return to Washington.

BUZZARD'S BAY, Mass., Aug. 27.—The President drove over to the Buzzard's Bay station to-night with Dr. Bryant, who took the train for New York. When the President arrived it was heralded about that Mr. Cleveland was leaving for New York. The President had quite an informal reception while he was waiting for the train on the depot platform. The trains from Boston were crowded with people, who flocked to the windows and platforms to obtain a glimpse of the President. A number of women and men stepped forward and shook hands with him. The President greeted them all with a smile. Everybody remarked on the general appearance of the President. He appeared to be the very picture of health. He returned to Gray Gables after Dr. Bryant had left. Mrs. Cleveland drove over to the village to-day. The yacht Onondaga has arrived to-night. Inasmuch as the Onondaga is here, and the fact that Dr. Bryant has returned home, shows that the President and his family expect to leave here any day.

FOR THE NEW BROTHERHOOD.
Best Attended Meeting of Railroad Employes Ever Held in Hazelton, Pa.

HAZELTON, Pa., Aug. 27.—The largest crowd of railroaders ever assembled at one time in this city was present at to-day's convention, which was held in the Grand Opera House. Special trains were run, carrying delegations from Buffalo, Scranton, Jersey City, Mauch Chunk, Sunbury, Shamokin and other points. Representatives from several of the side states were also present. The meeting was divided into two sessions. The morning session was held at 10 o'clock and only delegates were admitted. The afternoon session was open to the public. Addresses were delivered by prominent labor leaders. The substance of their remarks was in advocacy of organized labor and also the federation of the beneficial department of each order. Of the morning session very little could be learned, but it is understood that one of the important subjects discussed was the feasibility of amalgamating the brotherhoods of locomotive engineers, firemen, conductors, trainmen, switchmen and telegraph operators. What was accomplished, however, that as between the engineers and operators the only opposition to this move exists, and it is believed that the various orders will ultimately be merged into one great organization.

A CHINESE INITIATION.
Great Meeting of a Secret Order That Seems Popular Among Them.

The local Chinese lodge of "Masons" had a "mystery" last night in their rooms on Meridian street, south of Washington. It was the third in the history of the lodge, and the occasion was the visit of Mr. Tiao, one of the high officials from New York. The exercises were very elaborate, and a crowd was attracted to the street below. Nearly all the Chinamen in the city were present. A Chinese messenger boy got within the sacred precincts of the lodge room and saw wonderful things, and he reported to his master. Finally a tall, fat Chinaman saw the boy, and in a terrible voice growled "Glick!" The boy "glicked" without stopping at the door.

There is no Chinese Masonic lodge in this city recognized as such by Masonry, but the Chinese have a sort of a secret society which, after the initiation last night, includes in its membership every Chinaman in the city. The society in this city was organized three years ago in the old Little's Hotel, and has been kept alive ever since that time. There were ten candidates initiated last night, and the rooms of Caspar Schmaltz's saloon.

BUSINESS CUT 25 PER CENT.

Railroads Suffering but Indications Now Point to Relief Soon.

Compared with Corresponding Time in 1892, 4,610 Less Cars Were Handled Here Last Week—East-Bound Traffic Better.

The train records show that in the week ending Aug. 26 there were 677 more loaded cars received and forwarded at Indianapolis than in the week ending Aug. 19, and early 1,300 more in the week ending Aug. 19, and the inquiry for cars justifies the belief that a further increase will be shown the coming week. Compared with the corresponding week of 1892 a decrease of 4,610 loaded cars is shown, but going back to 1891 the comparison is less unfavorable, the movement in that week being but 2,251 loaded cars larger. Among freight men who have traveled over Indiana, Illinois, Kansas, Missouri and several other Western States a belief prevails that the season is getting easier, and that the roads crossing Indiana will have no occasion to complain of their volume of business. The east-bound traffic is better than in the corresponding week of 1892. Shipments of live stock are heavy for August and the shipments of produce, provisions and transcontinental line freights are fully up to the usual volume. In west-bound business so favorable a report is not justified, the tonnage of freight freights not in many places being as light, and in the lower class freights practically nothing is moving. It is believed that, with the start-up of the freight business in the west and the approaching when there should be a heavy west-bound business of coal and coke, North-and-south lines are suffering proportionately. The situation of the lines is such that the shutting down of car works has cut out the demand for Southern pine, which in both directions forms a considerable part of the business of the north-and-south lines. Local agents report out-bound business increasing, but in-bound business is not so good. The east-bound traffic is light. All are still waiting for the corresponding week of the preceding two years:
